

International Journal of Ayurveda Orientation

Volume 1, Issue 11, November 2016

SKIN PROBLEMS AND THIER MANAGEMENT THROUGH AYURVEDA

Gayatri Vyas, Harish Purohit

Received: October 21, 2016 | Published: November 24, 2016

Article ID: 8 | DOI: Pending www.ijao.in

SKIN PROBLEMS AND THIER MANAGEMENT THROUGH AYURVEDA

Gayatri Vyas, Harish Purohit

Gayatri Vyas (MUHS, Maharashtra, India); Harish Purohit (MUHS, Maharashtra, India)

Received: Oct 21, 2016

Published: November 24, 2016

ABSTRACT: Skin problems are increase in present era because increasing pollution, increasing use of chemical and disturbed food habits or life style. Ayurveda have rich knowledge of skin and skin diseases. Ayurvedic doctor can provide relief in this situation through ancient wisdom of Ayurveda science. This article is a review article about skin.

1.

INTRODUCTION

Skin is the seat of the sense organs, serving as the medium through which touch, pain, temperature, and pressure are perceived. In Ayurveda, it is classified as a Matruj Avyava, signifying its maternal origin. Beyond its sensory function, it provides the primary external covering for the entire body. The seven layers of the skin derive their nutrition from Mansa Dhatu (muscle tissue). It is regarded as an Updhatu (secondary tissue) of Mansa Dhatu because it mimics the primary tissues in supporting the body's structure but does not perform Poshan Karma (the act of providing nutrition) to other tissues like Rasa (plasma) or Rakta (blood). Consequently, it is understood that glowing skin is the direct reflection of high-quality Rasa and Rakta Dhatu.

2. CHARACTERISTICS OF IDEAL SKIN (TWAKASARA)

Individuals possessing Twakasara (ideal skin excellence) exhibit specific physical and mental traits:

- Soft, oily, thin, smooth, and lustrous skin texture.

- Deep-rooted, black, oily, and thin hair; smooth eyebrows and eyelashes.
- Unctuous and oily appearance of the mouth, lips, palate, and tongue.
- High intelligence, learned nature, and a tendency toward a long, happy, and healthy life.

3. SKIN TYPES ACCORDING TO DOSHAS

| Skin Type | Characteristics | Vulnerabilities |
|--------------|--|--|
| Vata | Dry, thin, cool to touch, delicate. | Dehydration, premature aging, flakiness. |
| Pitta | Fair, sensitive, soft, warm, medium thickness. | Freckles, moles, photosensitivity, acne. |
| Kapha | Oily, thick, pale, soft, cool. | Enlarged pores, blackheads, water retention. |

4. DIETARY AND LIFESTYLE MANAGEMENT

A. Vata Skin Care

Focus on internal and external lubrication. Favor warm, unctuous foods with sweet, sour, and salty tastes. Use lukewarm water for hydration and incorporate ghee or olive oil into the diet. Daily warm oil massages and gentle natural moisturizers are essential.

B. Pitta Skin Care

Requires cooling and nurturing. Favor sweet, bitter, and astringent tastes (e.g., rose petals, juicy fruits). Avoid spicy foods, harsh synthetic cosmetics, and excessive sun exposure. Use cooling oils like coconut oil for massage.

C. Kapha Skin Care

Focus on regular detoxification and stimulation. Diet should be warm, light, and pungent or bitter to balance oiliness. Daily exercise and exfoliating clay scrubs help improve circulation and clear pores.

5. EFFECT OF STRESS ON SKIN

Stress impacts the skin through three distinct pathways:

- Mental Stress: Dries out skin moisture and shrinks Strotas (micro-channels), leading to wrinkles.

- Emotional Stress: Chronic anger or embarrassment triggers Pitta-based issues like acne and redness.
- Physical Stress: Excessive strain or over-exercising depletes natural moisture, resulting in rough, aged skin.

6. AYURVEDIC TREATMENTS AND REMEDIES

Ayurveda views skin diseases as primarily stemming from sluggish liver function and toxin (Ama) build-up. Management is classified into:

- Shodhana (Purification): Procedures like Vaman, Virechana, and Raktamokshana for chronic conditions.
- Shamana (Pacification): For mild imbalances, utilizing herbs like Khadira (oral) and Aragwadh (topical).
- Varnya Dravya: Complexion-promoting herbs including Chandan, Manjistha, and Shatdhout Ghrita.

7.

REFERENCES

1. Sharma R.K. & Bhagwandas. Charak-chikitsa sthan Vol.III. Varanasi: Choukhamba Sanskrit Series; 2007.
2. Shastry J.L.N. Dravyaguna Vijnana. Varanasi: Choukhamba Orientalia; 2006.
3. Mithal B.M. Handbook of Cosmetics. Delhi: Vallabh Prakashan; 2007.
4. Murthy K.R. Srikantha. Sushruta Samhita, Chikitsa Sthan Vol.II. Varanasi: Chaukhamba Orientalia.

HOW TO CITE THIS ARTICLE:

APA: Gayatri Vyas, Harish Purohit (2016). SKIN PROBLEMS AND THIER MANAGEMENT THROUGH AYURVEDA. International Journal of Ayurveda Orientation, 1(11), 46-49.

MLA: Gayatri Vyas, et al. "SKIN PROBLEMS AND THIER MANAGEMENT THROUGH AYURVEDA." International Journal of Ayurveda Orientation 1.11 (2016): 46-49.

Vancouver: Gayatri et al. SKIN PROBLEMS AND THIER MANAGEMENT THROUGH AYURVEDA. International Journal of Ayurveda Orientation 2016;1(11):46-49.

